The last New York bank statement exibits certain humors in currency circulaion. Greenbacks are shown to hold a preference in public estimation, both at the West and South. Remittances from the South are almost exclusively in greenbacks, s that currency is wholly used in moving he cotton and tobacco. The West remits New York national bank notes, as far as possible, and retains the greenbacks. Thus the greenbacks are getting scarce in the meropolis, and the country currency accumu ates. The last bank statement shows con inued liquidation, the deposits having delined $5,212,353. The loans having fallen off $2,391,641. 14th inst., as follows: The Ways and Means Committee had a session to-day. Mr. Boutwell occupied an hour in explaining his views in regard to the sale of surplus gold, as provided for in his bill. No decision was reached, the committee being of opinion that the passage of the bill must depend entirely up-on the fluancial policy adopted by Congress. If any steps toward redemption should be taken, then the gold in the Treasury must be held. If no steps be taken in this direction, then it will be better to provide for sales that will take the be better to provide for sales that will take the control of so so much money out of the hands of the Treasurer. The statement already telegraphed that the committee is pretty closely divided on the subject of further contraction may be regarded as confirmed. The feeling is decidedly against any increase of the National Bank circulation. Hooper's bill, contrary to general opinion, does not increase the volume of this currency, but only calls from the North and redistributes to the South. Even those who favor Mr. McCulloch's policy of contraction, are in favor of preventing him from constituting favor of preventing him from constituting imself a regulator of prices, and there will be strong opposition to giving the Secretary the control of such idle money.

Mr. Hooper, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, in the House of number o bill to amend the act entitled "An act to provide a national currency," etc., approved June 30, 1864. The amendments reported were recommitted to the committee, from which we suppose that the bill is not completed, and that it may undergo modification before it shall be brought before the House for consideration. The amendments are substatially the same with the project eported at the last session, which failed to be passed. The restrictions upon the national banks are, however, rendered more tringent. Provision is made for the redemption of the national bank issues at some central point, New York, Philadelphia, or Boston.
